

Whakatāne Natural Burial Tree List

Ngā kōwhiringa rākau mō ngā Nehunga Mākoha i Whakatāne

Houhere Hoheria populnea

A graceful soft-wooded tree with a grey trunk bearing leathery toothed leaves and starry white flowers.

Karaka Corynocarpus laevigatus

A handsome, upright tree, with a dense bushy top which features large glossy-green leaves and ornamental orange fruit.

Kōwhai Sophora microphylla

Small leguminous tree with attractive fern-like foliage featuring bunches of drooping yellow flowers.

Mangeao Litsea calicaris

A bushy tree bearing glossy green thin undulating oval leaves and dark purple fruit.

Miro Prumnopitys ferruginea

A round headed forest tree which features bright green, feathery leaves that produces large red fruit.

Pōhutukawa Metrosideros excelsa

A medium to large spreading tree with dark rich green oval leaves and brilliant crimson red flowers and a rough dark brown bark.

Whakatāne Natural Burial Tree List

Ngā kōwhiringa rākau mō ngā Nehunga Mākoha i Whakatāne

Pūriri Vitex lucens

Large tree with thin pale flaky bark, dark green glossy leaves and loaded with bright red berries from the autumn into the winter.

Rewarewa Knightia excelsa

A handsome slender tree bearing masses of dark green jagged leathery leaves and dense spikes of reddish flowers.

Taraire Beilschmiedia taraire

A brilliant tree with rounded leathery dark green leaves, white flowers and glossy dark purple fruit.

Tawa Beilschmiedia tawa

An elegant tree with small, pale-green, willowy leaves, yellowish flowers and large dark purple berries in winter.

Titoki Alectryon excelsus

A handsome small spreading tree with shining dark-green foliage, unusual jet-black seeds and bright-red fruit.

Tōtara Podocarpus totara

An attractive durable timber tree with needle like leaves, olive green, orange-red fruit and thick stringy bark.